

Callbacks in JavaScript

A callback is just a function passed as an argument to another function, so that the function receiving it can call it later.

Why use callbacks?

→ To control when something happens (like after a delay or after fetching data).

→ To avoid repeating code.

→ To handle async tasks (like reading a file, fetching data, etc.).